THE HOBART NATURE PRESERVE

The Miami County Park District's Hobart Urban Nature Preserve is 82 acres located in the heart of Troy. The entrance is located at 1400 Tyrone just off of Dorset Road. The main entry brings visitors into the preserve via a country lane experience that is flanked by oak trees and waving prairie. The corten steel sign and gate, as well as the glacial boulder wall, help feature a unique mix of old and new. The steel also creates a visual linkage to some unique features in the preserve, four welded steel modernist sculptures that were donated from the collection of the Hobart Welding Institute. These sculptures are placed in four distinct habitats to highlight the relationship between nature and art. In harmony with the restored natural setting, land management is geared toward promoting a diversity of plant and animal life, providing a unique respite from the hustle and bustle of city life, where visitors can be replenished and inspired by activities such as bird-watching, leisurely walks, and observing the seasonal changes of the landscape.
